Tom de Wal is known for his teaching on healing and the healing miracles that occur through his teaching and ministry. Naturally, this raises many questions and reactions. In this book, Tom answers those questions and lays a strong biblical foundation on the theme of healing. The strength of this book is that it lets God's Word speak on these issues rather than the experiences or disappointments of people. This book will change your perspective on divine healing!

The book is structured in three parts:
Part 1: Is it always God's will to heal everyone? In the first part of the book, the question is addressed whether it is always God's will to heal everyone.
Part 2: Answers to the 35 most common biblical questions and objections about healing. In the second part of the book, you will find biblical answers to the most frequently asked questions and objections surrounding the theme of healing. Examples include questions such as: "Doesn't God, in His sovereignty, determine who is and isn't healed?", "Don't we live in an in-between time in which healing is not always visible yet?", "Doesn't the Old Testament say that sickness and suffering come from Him?", etc.
Part 3: Why healing sometimes does not occur and what to do. In the third part of the book, the question is answered why healing sometimes does not occur and what to do in that situation.
